As an immigrant myself I understand the complexity of the immigration process. Mona's book clearly lays out best practices for an efficient immigration process for Chinese investors.

I love this book! It's very helpful for Chinese investors who do not have much experience choosing a good EB-5 projects. My parents and I have been looking around EB-5 projects for some time and couldn't make up our mind. The information on the market is mostly commercial and biased. It is refreshing to have an independent opinion from a lawyer who does not represent any EB-5 projects. With this book, I know where to start and what to look for when it comes to choosing a good and rewarding project!

The EB-5 visa is an increasingly popular way for many Chinese people to obtain permanent residence status in the U.S. It is the one of the few visas that involves no long waits for Chinese nationals and requires no labor market test to prove unavailability of U.S. workers, no anchor relative in the United States to petition on an immigrant's behalf, no claim of extraordinary or exceptional ability, no fear of persecution in the homeland, no business to manage directly on a day-to-day basis, and no job to perform for a sponsor.
